In a majority of instances where presidential primaries have been held, and in States carried by Roosevelt, it is pointed out that not more than 25 per cent of the actual Republican vote of the States was polled. The remaining 75 per cent of Republican voters are to be heard from at the national election. This fact is deeply significant.

Judge James Ellison, of the Kansas City Court of Appeals, handed down the following decision in the case of O. D. Anstlin, of the Butler (Mo.) Record, vs. Burge, the other members concurring, and published in 137 S. W. Reports, 618: "The preparation and publication of a newspaper involves much mental and physical labor as well as an outlay of money. One who accepts the paper by continuously taking it from the postoffice receives a benefit and pleasure arising from such labor and expenditures as fully as if he had appropriated any other product of another's labor and by such act he must be held liable for the subscription price."

Roosevelt claims to have won the Republican nomination for President. He should have said that the steel trust and its manager, George W. Perkins, are trying to buy it for him.

The distinguished editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal suggests a solution of the problem, "What shall we do with our ex-Presidents?" at least insofar as our only one is concerned, by saying that his friends ought to place him in a mad-house before he does something terrible.

That the reactionaries in the Senate are still deaf to the voice of the people is evidenced by the fact that the Lorimer committee, the majority of which are last-ditch standpatters and Tories, has once more whitewashed the Chicago boss. If the people of the United States could go to the polls and vote on the question of keeping Lorimer in the Senate, the only ones who would vote for Lorimer are his personal jobholders and henchmen, and the tariff trust barons who need him in their business. More than 99 per cent of the country's ninety-two millions would be against his retention. Yet the Senate reactionaries are deaf to the protests against him, blind to the proven shame of his election, and dumb when pressed to say the word that would send him back to the oblivion where he belongs.

Once more the old consumer has to dig down into his pocket and pay tribute to a trust. This time it is the coal trust, and the excuse given for this trust's latest scheme to gouge a few extra dollars out of the public is the fact that the coal miners went on a strike. There is no evidence that the strike, which was not, strictly speaking, a strike, cost the trust anything except the profit it would have made had the men not laid down their tools pending a readjustment of their contracts. But with this weak excuse for a basis, the trust has decreed that there shall be no usual spring discount of 30 cents per ton on coal this year. It is also announced that the usual summer discount will not be allowed. Thus the consumer pays not only the loss in profits suffered by the trust during the "strike," but he also pays for the slightly increased cost of mining, due to the small raise in pay granted the miners. Does anybody pay the miner for the money he lost in wages during the lay off? Not that anybody knows of. The miner is not in a position candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative in Congress from the Ninth Missouri district, so that, in case he fails receiving the Presidential nomination at Baltimore, he will not retire from Congress.

As a result of the recent heavy rains, the ground got so soft that James Peck's horse sank down on one side. He will let it stay that way, as he won't have to prop his plate up against a biscuit to keep his molasses together.—Hogwallow Kentuckian.

The necessity of screening against the fly is now very generally understood, but there are many people in the world who still look upon flies as a nuisance rather than a menace. In disease an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. So in guarding against the homely prevention is the best antidote, the surest prescription. Keep the premises clean, that he may "die a-borning," for, like the Indian, the fly is best when he is "good and dead."

Now that Mt. Olivet, capital of Robertson county, is likely to have a traction connection with the outside world it is worthy of note that the town is peculiarly situated as to distance to neighboring towns, being 23 miles from Maysville; 23 miles from Dover; 23 miles from Augusta; 23 miles from Flemingsburg; 23 miles from Carlisle; and just a little over 23 miles from Palomoth and Cynthiana. Straight up it is supposed to be 23 miles from the world beyond and straight down it is only 23 miles from—well, we'd hate to think it!—Dover News.

Suggestions Worth Following.

Kill every fly you can find in your home, and screen all windows and doors, especially in the kitchen and dining room.

Don't allow decaying material of any kind to accumulate on or near your premises.

Keep garbage cans carefully covered and the can sprinkled with lime.

All rubbish with a tendency in any way to fermentation, such as vegetable matter, bedding straw and paper waste, should be immediately covered with lime or kerosene oil. Keep all stable manure in a pit, screened or sprinkled with lime, oil or other cheap preparation. If there is a nuisance in your neighborhood report at once to the Board of Health.

Keep flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Don't buy candy, fruit or food that is left exposed in front of stores where flies feed and walk on it.

the country for cattle ranging the people intimately acquainted with Brazil's vast areas of rich pasture land have no doubts.

They prophesied long ago that one day they easily would occupy a leading, if not first, place among countries competing for the custom of the European consumer requiring large supplies of meat from abroad.

Discussing the project, an official of the Brazilian consulate in London stated that they had not yet received details concerning the territory acquired, but it was considered likely that it would prove to be situated in the state of Piahy in the north of the country. This state contains some of the finest pasture land in Brazil, and already does a small export trade in even.

In answer to the query, "Why is that your son never has cut his hair?" Mrs. Lund replied pleasantly:

"Why, he never has, that's all. As a boy Stephen had beautiful hair, just like a girl. It was thick, rich and glossy, and we hated to cut it. Year after year went by and we never did cut it. Some say he can't cut it or he'll lose all the money. But there's nothing to that story. The Lord knows I wish he did have a fortune coming to him, but as far as I know he has not. Pretty soon, next summer, perhaps, I guess he'll have it cut."

New York.—Warned by a Chinaman that a murder was about to occur, detectives hurried to a building in Chinatown, broke down several barricaded doors, and found Chin Hing Jung, a member of Chinatown's Four Brothers' society, lying dead in the basement.

When the Revolution broke out he returned to America with a profession of patriotism and was given a commission in the Continental army. But General Washington lost faith in him. "To stay married," added the stage star, "there must be congeniality between husband and wife and a couple never should be separated for any length of time."

SPOON, BUT BE MODERATE

That's Pittsburg Chief of Police's Latest Instructions to Couples.

Pittsburg.—Despite other year protestations by uplift organizations, the W. C. T. U. and other opponents, Police Superintendent Thomas A. McQuaide instructed his force to recognize the open-love season by permitting youth of all circles to use the parks for spooning within certain limitations.

"As in every large city," said Superintendent McQuaide, "there are belles and beaux who have no conservatories, cool, cosy corners or porch swings in which to entertain. The parks are provided for these. It has been my experience that the summer evenings find as many youths and maidens of our wealthy families strolling in the parks as the boys and girls of the working classes.

"It is no new custom for these to drift to shaded benches and commune with one another. Pittsburg's policemen are sufficiently well versed in human nature to differentiate between true and false making. Accordingly, I have a year, to have the demonstrations, anything they do end at once counterfeited. I will venture any father and mother honest, will away to their youthling."

A Puzzling Question.

I have been going with a young man for some time, but lately he keeps breaking engagements with me. I asked him why, and he always gave some excuse. At last I have gotten tired of this, so asked him out and out if he cared to come up any more. He said he did, but made no further engagement. I care a great deal for this young man. What would you advise me to do in regards to such a matter?

I have written you some letters before but my answers never appear in the paper. May I ask if I have made any mistake, and why they do not appear?—B. H.

Perhaps your letters have been among the many that request a reply "In next Sunday's paper." That is utterly impossible, for the department is always made up in advance and then by that time probably a reply would be too late for your purpose. Then, too, there is only a very limited space for "Questions and Answers," and each letter has to take its turn. About the young man, it never does to be too anxious. I think I would just let him go his own sweet way, appear indifferent, and if possible go with some one else. If this process does not bring him to time, he is not worth worrying over.

A Budget of Questions.

If it is proper for a young man to walk between the mother and daughter when but, if it is better for the young man to walk on the outside and beside the daughter and the mother next to her and on the inside? I have always wished I knew if a young lady should help a gentleman with his overcoat in a public place, such as the theater or restaurant?—Grace.

A man walks on the outside, never between two women. In the case men-al wedding dress. Do I wear my hat, gloves, etc., during the ceremony? What about the bouquet? Is the wedding ring to be worn on same finger as the engagement ring? And how and when do they put it on.—H. E.

The hat is worn and it is as you prefer about the gloves, with or without being equally proper. You may carry a bouquet or wear one, whichever pleases you best. Remove the engagement ring for the ceremony, afterwards slip it on over the wedding ring, at any convenient time, usually before you start away. Glad you find the department helpful and thank you for telling me.

Three Questions.

Having been interested in your paper, I thought I would take the privilege of writing to you.

How should a girl of sixteen wear her hair?

How long should she wear her dresses?

Is it proper to speak to a gentleman first or should he speak first?—A Stenographer.

Girls of sixteen usually wear their hair in braids around the head with or without a bow, or in braids looped up in the back with a bow. Dresses are worn just below the shoe tops. It is a woman's privilege always to speak first.

Pillow covers of scrim are extremely serviceable, are easy to make and can be made very beautiful.

same splendor seems to have crept into our jewels as into the embroideries of our gowns. The semi-precious stones are having a decided vogue, as well as the costly gems, and malachite and jades, coral and lapis lazuli are all included in the scheme of things.

Growing Plants in the Home.

Thousands of people are nowadays growing many kinds of bulbs in undrained howls filled with fiber, shell and charcoal. The result is lovely where care is taken in the cultivation.

When we hear of failure it is generally one of two things that has caused it. The fiber has become too dry and the active, healthy roots of the bulbs have withered, so that they can no longer perform their functions, or else the fiber has been kept in too wet and saturated a condition, till the roots have rotted.

The safest way of treating the bulbs grown in this manner is to water when needed. As soon as the fiber has taken up all the moisture it can absorb tip up the bowl and drain away any that remains.

What Every Woman Knows.

A Cleveland school teacher writes that she asked her class what was the difference between the expressions, "a while" and "a time." Nobody seemed to have any ideas on the subject. Finally the light of intelligence was seen to shine in the eyes of one little boy, and the teacher called upon him to save the intellectual honor of the class.

"I know, teacher!" he cried eagerly. "When papa says he's going out for a while, mamma says she knows he's going out for a time!"

How His Brother Identified Him.

Uncle Harris, an old negro, who has been a servant in the family of Colonel Slemmens of Monticello, Ark., for the last forty years, recently made a trip to Memphis. Upon his return he was telling the colonel's daughter of his trip and the discovery of a brother whom he had not seen for thirty years.

Miss Slemmens asked him how he knew his brother after so long a time, and Uncle Harris replied:

"I was walking along the street when a spare built looking man came up to me and says: 'Say, ain't you my brother?' and I said, 'Sure I is. Who is you?'" whelming desire to nominate him. All right. Let him spend as much as he likes, if he spends it legitimately. But who is putting up?

 Mr. Roosevelt has no million to spend on his campaign, not even the $50,000 which, according to legal record, he dumped into New York county alone. Then who is putting up?
 Is it Perkins, Munsey or McCormick, or some other of his trust friends who are boosting the Roosevelt campaign? Or are the plain people parting with their pennies to enjoy the salvation of another Roosevelt administration?

The Taft managers, undoubtedly, are spending money, too. Money has always been spent in these campaigns. The people have a right to know where the Taft money comes from.

But the agents of the president have yet to be charged with "spending money like drunken sailors" as were the agents of the colonel in Indianapolis.

It may be recalled at this time that George W. Perkins in 1904 contributed $50,000 to the Roosevelt campaign in behalf of the New York Life insurance company. He can't do that now, but what he is giving and how he is giving it should be known to the citizens who are asked to vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

If the nation is to have publicity of campaign contributions, it is fully as important that it has them for the primaries and other prenomination activity as for the election proper.—Exchange.

Safely Within the Law.
 Mr. G. T. Perkins contributed $15,000 to Theodore Roosevelt's New York campaign for delegates, and there were other large contributions, but it is not charged that any of the money was used corruptly. It costs a lot of money to make the kind of a campaign all the presidential candidates are making, and as yet congress has not put any limitations on such expenditures.

Colonel's Costly Campaign.
 Commenting on the use of money by the Roosevelt management, Chairman McKinley of the Taft committee said: "When the senate investigated the charges made against Senator Stephenson it found that his expenditures in the campaign before the primary amounted to a little less than two dollars a vote. It now develops that the campaign in the interest of Roosevelt before the New York primaries, which elected delegates to the national convention, required the expenditure of four dollars a vote."

Double Burden on the People.
 The conclusion reached by the investigators who have been working on the wool schedule is that many of its rates are prohibitive and that the cost of producing wool and woolen goods is higher in the United States than in any other country. Naturally, the consumer carries a burden caused in part by actual differences in the necessary conditions of production, and in part the result of excessive tariff barriers against the importation of wool and woolens.

party, through men like Clark, Underwood, Baldwin, Wilson, Harmon and others, has redirected the attention of the country to the power of ideas in politics. It is our guess that personal government is doomed and that soon the Roosevelts and Cannons will be numbered among the popular idols which have lost their sanctity.—St. Louis Republic.

Rising Moral Standards.
 In the stimulating little volume, "The Moral and Religious Challenge of Our Times," President H. C. King of Oberlin college discusses as one of the significant national changes, "the rapidly rising moral standards of the United States in business, industrial and political life."

There can be no doubt, he says, that the business world now repudiates methods that would have been accepted as a matter of course twenty-five years ago, and that in politics there is "a growing responsibility to the whole people." He continues:

"The significant element in the revolt against 'Cannonism' lies just here. It is the repudiation of the old theory that legislation is to be the outcome of a compromise of various corporate or local interests, instead of being determined by a clear view of the interests of the people as a whole."

That is why the people revolted against the manner in which the Payne-Aldrich tariff act was framed, and it explains the uprising which has so bewildered the old school of politicians who could see nothing out of the way in legislating for the special interests.

Working of the Anti-Trust Law.
 The government's trick in the Standard Oil suit showed that John D. Rockefeller personally held 247,692 shares in the Standard Oil company. Since the government won the suit and the company was dissolved the market price of the stock has risen $350 per share, adding thereby $85,692,200 to Mr. Rockefeller's fortune. The anti-trust law is a great success.

Ever the Friend of the Trusts.
 If Mr. Roosevelt had been president for the last four years we may be sure there would have been no prosecution of the barometer trust. Mr. Roosevelt stopped that once before, and has now his reward in campaign contributions. And the sugar trust would not have been compelled to disgorge its thefts. Mr. Roosevelt knew about them, but would not see them when in office. And the steel corporation would still receive the presidential benediction for its every act.

Will Be in Harmony Once.
 It was only a few days ago that Mr. Taft's manager declared that only a loser squealed, and now he is making a very queer noise for a winner. On the other side, the squealers of a few days ago are now imitating the rooster. They will squeal a duet at Chicago.

Just as we had almost forgotten all about it, the announcement comes from Washington that there is to be a vigorous probe of the money trust. When?

Some cooks and a little potato to the mass, while others dredge in a seasoning. When the water is boiling, if they will have a delicate flavor. Do not throw away vinegar in which home-made cucumber pickles have been preserved. Keep it and use it in salad dressing. Instead of the ordinary vinegar. The odor is delicious.

Seed Cookies.
 Put a large tablespoonful of butter in the mixing bowl with two-thirds of a cupful of sugar and two well-beaten eggs. Add a tablespoonful of anise seed, two cupfuls of flour, sifted, with two or three tablespoonfuls of baking powder and two or three tablespoonfuls of milk. Mix it into a soft dough, turn it out on the floured pastry board and flatten it out with the rolling pin a little thicker than pie crust. Stamp out pieces with a cookie cutter and arrange them on a greased bake pan. Bake them in a moderate oven about seven or eight minutes.

Old-Time Ginger Snaps.
 One cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of butter or lard, one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of ginger. Boil the molasses five minutes. Remove from the fire and add soda, butter and ginger. When cooled a little, stir in the flour until thick enough to roll, then roll thin as a postage stamp. Cut with a cookie cutter and bake in a hot oven, being careful not to burn. Shut in a tin pan. The will keep for a long time.

Stuffed Celery.
 Select tender and fair-sized stalks so curved that the stuffing is possible. Add and stir Roquefort cheese to a cream, putting through a sieve, if necessary. Add thick cream until a paste is made. Fill the hollows of the celery and put the mixture in the icebox to chill. Serve with the salad or as salad, with French dressing, when desired. When served as a relish it is served without dressing.

Cheese Omelet.
 Cheese may be introduced into omelets in several ways. An ordinary omelet may be served with thin cheese sauce made in the following proportions: One and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, one quarter cupful of grated cheese, one cupful of milk. This sauce may also be added to omelets in which boiled rice, minced meat or some other nutritious material has been included.

A Delicious Water.
 A chocolate drop is placed on a thin cracker. Then it is set in the oven. When the candy is melted so it runs. And the cracker is crisp and brown. You have a perfect water to serve with afternoon tea.

Invalid Jelly.
 One-half pound each of veal, mutton and the best steak, two tablespoonfuls water. Cut meat into small pieces and put into a close jar, with the water and a piece of salt. Steam six hours, strain and put into small jars.

ERUPTION COVERED BODY

"Three years ago this winter I had a breaking out that covered my whole body. It itched so it seemed as if I should go crazy. It first came out in little pimples on my back and spread till it covered my whole body and limbs down to my knees, also my arms down to my elbows. Where I scratched it made sores, and the terrible itching and burning kept me from sleeping. I tried several remedies all to no purpose. Then I concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, also the Resolvent, for about four months, and they completely cured me of eczema. I have had no return of the disease since. I never had a good night's rest after the skin eruption first broke out till I commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had only used them a few days before I could see they were beginning to heal, and the terrible itching was gone."

"Those that lived in the house at the time know how I suffered, and how the Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me. I never take a bath without using the Cuticura Soap, and I do not believe there are better remedies for any skin disease than the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Miss Sarah Calkins, Waukegan, Ill., Mar. 16, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

"John Brown! How could you hit yourself on the forehead?" exclaimed his irritated helpmate.

FOR THE WOMAN WHO THINKS AND FEELS.

Some women complain that they periodically suffer from dull and heavy feelings, or dizziness in the head, nervousness, pain and bearing-down feelings which should not occur to the normal healthy woman. But most every woman is subject to these pains at some time in her life, due to abnormal conditions in life, such as corsets, over-taxed strength, bad air, poor or improper food, wet feet, sluggish liver, etc. A regulator and female tonic made from native medicinal roots with pure glycerin, and without the use of alcohol, called

I have used them for thirty years for female trouble and general weakness with the very best result, and they have saved me hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills. I buy the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and take them together. I never was disappointed in your remedies and take pleasure in recommending them to any suffering lady. I am now almost fifty years old; at forty-five I took your medicines, both kinds, and I passed that period very easily and felt me fat and healthy. I feel like a young girl. If any lady cares to write me, I will gladly tell her more about the good work of your medicines."
